Product Description

Geely Xingyue I high-pressure fuel pump/High-pressure oil pump/Fuel high-pressure supply pump

The high-pressure fuel pump equipped with Geely Xingyue L shows excellent performance and quality.

In terms of accuracy, it can achieve extremely accurate fuel pressure adjustment, ensure the high accuracy of fuel injection volume, and provide a strong guarantee for the efficient combustion of the engine.

In terms of workmanship, advanced manufacturing technology and high-quality materials are adopted, and every detail has been carefully polished and strictly tested to ensure the stability and reliability of the high-pressure fuel pump in long-term use. It is responsible for extracting the fuel from the fuel tank and pressurizing it to the fuel common rail, providing stable and high-pressure fuel for the injector to achieve accurate fuel injection.

The principle is based on advanced mechanical design and electronic control technology. Through the internal plunger reciprocating movement, the low-pressure fuel is converted into high-pressure fuel, and the fuel pressure can be adjusted in real time according to the working conditions of the engine.

In terms of technology, it integrates the latest fuel pump technology achievements, with efficient oil supply capacity and excellent pressure control ability.

There are many advantages, and the high-precision fuel supply improves the combustion efficiency, thus enhancing the power output, while reducing fuel consumption and exhaust emissions. Stable and reliable performance reduces the possibility of failure and brings a more secure driving experience to the owner. Its excellent technology and excellent workmanship also make the operation of the entire fuel system smoother and more efficient, laying a solid foundation for the excellent performance of Geely Xingyue L.
